Don'urr was a sort of meme character made for a one-shot by a new DM. He is more or less based on Gordon Ramsay. During the session, I kept a list of Ramsay quotes ready and marked them off whenever I said them at a good time.

His weapon is a big meat tenderizer and has some kitchen knives with them as well.

There is not much else to say about this character, as I didn't really think of a story for this character aside from him owning a good restaurant and hunting for fresh meat himself. And his moustache is real by the way!

Also, for people who haven't picked up on the name, the name is a play on "Doner kebab".
